SPORT NEWS

Basketball fans and players are happy. Our boys team have played and won three of the six league games of the season. Another will be played here tonight, (Friday.) The girls have played two out-of-town teams, losing one game and winning the other.

Perhaps one of the most interesting of the season's games was played after Literary on Friday, when the girls team played the boys, the latter having their right hands tied behind them. The only noticeable effect of the handicap was to make it necessary for the boys to give their right arms a few limbering turns after the game was over.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL

Our P. T. classes are again going strong. We can't toe-dance yet; nor form a solid square—but just wait. Literary last week was under the direction of the Staff. Mr. Pack, Chairman of the School Board gave a lecture that was enjoyed by all.

Faint and unofficial rumors have reached us of a French class to be taught by Mr. Low. This would put our school in a class with the best in the province.

Since this is the conventional time of year for stock-taking, a brief inventory of the improvements in the school during this and the preceding three terms—within the experience of the present Grade XII might be interesting.

A new heating system has been installed.

One teacher, one class room, and fifty seven students have been added to our equipment.

Catches and locks have been added to our windows, no more do we use chairs to hold them up.

A new and much larger cloak room has been provided for the girls. The boys have possession of both the old ones now.

A new set of scales in the laboratory are the despair and pride of the chemistry students.

A girls basketball team has been added to our possessions.

A collection of articles such as: locks on every available door, waste baskets on every available floor, physical training every available—but we don't mean it—the words just went that way.

King George Hopeful of Lasting Benefit to World By Limitation of Navies

London, Jan. 21.—Following is the text of King George's address at today's opening session of the naval disarmament conference:

"It is with sincere satisfaction that I am present here to welcome the delegates of the five principal naval powers assembled with the object of eliminating the evil results of wasteful competition in naval armaments. Every nation represented here is proud of its navy; proud of that navy's past achievements and inspiring traditions. It is not the fault of these traditions nor of our navies if competition in naval construction, due to the supposed necessities of policy, has led to a feeling of insecurity between nations and even to the risk of war.

"Since the Great War all peoples are determined that human statescraft shall leave nothing undone to prevent a repetition of that grim and immense tragedy. In the edifice of peace which we are seeking to build up, one of its most important columns is agreement between the maritime nations on the limitation of naval strength and reduction to a point consistent with nation security. The practical application of the principle of the reduction of naval armaments has in the past proved a matter of extreme difficulty. Great success was achieved in conclusion of the Washington treaty of 1922 imposing certain limitations on the construction of capital ships and aircraft carriers. But hitherto all efforts to advance beyond that point have failed.

"I believe that you to whom your governments have entrusted the high mission of continuing the task begun at Washington are animated with singleminded intentions of working not with any selfish and exclusively nationalistic purpose, but with noble inspiration and high resolve to remove once for all this particular obstacle from the path of ordered and civilized progress.

"All nations have varying needs demanding special consideration, but if each is equally determined to make some sacrifice as a contribution to the common good, I feel sure that your deliberations will confer great and lasting benefit not only upon the countries which you represent but upon mankind generally.

"I earnestly trust that the results of this conference will lead to immediate alleviation of the heavy burdens of armaments now weighing upon the peoples of the world and also by facilitating the future work of the league preparatory commission on disarmament and hastening the time when a general disarmament conference can deal with this problem in an even more comprehensive manner. In this hope I shall follow your deliberations with closest interest and attention."—Calgary Herald.

Taber Too Speedy

The Taber pucksters were here on Wednesday and handed our local team a rather severe drubbing, the score being 9-1 in two periods. The visitors had a beautiful combination on their forward line, and were nearly always ready for a pass, and when they got a shot, some one was nearly always ready for the rebound, so that the barrage on the goal was a little too steady for McBeth, in goal to head them all.

Raymond's team are new at the game and showed up well in individual rushes, but they lacked in combination and practice in shooting. More work together and they will give a much better account of themselves. They have speed and action, but require more team work.

The lineup was as follows:—
Taber Position Raymond
Bulluck Goal McBeth
Hart Defense S. Fairbanks
Hackett " L. Christensen
Viekory " E. Christensen
McRoberts Forward C. Scoville
J. Cook " A. Terry
Patterson " F. Terry
R. Cook " A. Melchin
Williams " W. Christensen
Brooks

The third period was an exhibition by the Taber players, augmented by a couple of Raymond men.

Stubbard had the whistle for the first match, and Mr. Leech of Taber refereed the exhibition period. Penalties were few and there was very little rough playing during the evening.

"UNION JACKS" WIN FROM CARDSTON

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That advertising goes out and brings business in. Its drawing power is so strong that it will always bring an increased amount of business.

Talk persuades but advertising convinces. Advertising does more to sell merchandise than any other element that enters into selling. Everybody knows that the business concerns that advertise persistently set a standard that gives the utmost in quality.

Persistent, truthful advertisers do not fail for lack of business because that class of advertising never fails to direct the minds of the buying public to them in a way that brings a ever increasing business.

Progress means advancement. The wants of the people are always increasing. Business concerns that are persistent advertisers are concerned with vision and are always ready to meet these wants.

Newspaper advertising does the most to bring in worth while business. It costs the least and does the most.

Advertisements deal with things in which all people are vitally interested.

BUYING OR SELLING ADVERTISING MERCHANDISE IS SAFE BUYING OR SELLING.

No matter what ails you—Harold Lloyd will laugh it out of you with "Welcome Danger."

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cooper were in Stirling on Sunday, attending the funeral services of Mrs. Cooper's grandmother, Mrs. Alice Seely, who passed away last Thursday night, Jan. 16, after a prolonged illness.

NEW RED CROSS UNIT

Beautiful for situation is the new Junior Red Cross Unit at the University Hospital in Edmonton. As if by magic this fine new building has appeared and where there were but grassy place a few months ago now you see a splendid building in which the sign of the Red Cross proclaims to all the world that the Society is still "carrying on" her great work of caring for the sick crippled children.

The visitor is greatly impressed with the fine appearance of this new unit from the outside, where wide verandahs will offer to the little patients their best chance of cure in the bright and beautiful sunshine of Alberta "When summer comes". As soon as the good weather blesses the country, the little sick ones like the flowers of the field will blossom forth on the sunny side of these splendid sunporches, absorbing the health laden air that blows to them over wide woodlands and broad river.

The wards are large, airy and commodiously planned. Boys ward, girls ward, cot ward and nursery. Easy indeed is it for the nurses to give the same of attention to their cases when all has been so admirably planned with a view to nursing care and to the daily school which is carried on for those of school age. The large and modern kitchen with its many devices for efficient house-keeping commends itself to the eye of every housewife. Service rooms and Quartz Light room make treatments a simple matter.

The ventilating system of the hospital is also the last word and no matter what the temperature outside there is always warm fresh air entering this wonderful little hospital. Bright tints on the walls with a note of color here and there in the stencilled figures, present an attractive appearance. New beds and cosy cots with tiny little first sizes for babies, are filled with happy Peters and Wens, all getting better in the New Red Cross Unit.

Fascinating Links In Canada's History

The picture gallery of the Dominion Archives at Ottawa is full of interesting paintings and prints, and one of the most striking pictures on exhibit is a life-sized portrait of that well known historical figure, Charles I.

The power of the picture is immediately noticeable to the observer. The figure is standing by a table with one hand resting on a large black hat. He is wearing a long black cloak with a creamy lace collar and cuffs and a large silver crest. The aristocratic features of the man and the rather sneering smile, the regal bearing and the challenging eye, all well portray this strong-willed king. Although a despotic ruler, it is immediately known from his features that he is a clever man.

This picture is warm and clear in colouring and shows great attention to detail. The hands are particularly beautiful and the pattern in the lace is exquisitely painted.

Many critics claim that this picture was painted by Peter Lely, the court painter to Charles II after the original VanDyke, and some even claim it to be an original of Sir Anthony Van Dyke, the famous painter of the early seventeenth century, who knighted by Charles the First. Whoever the painter may be the work is a great masterpiece.

This great treasure was presented to Canada by Viscount Dillon in accordance with the wish of his wife. Lord Dillon was an officer in the British army and was in Canada with his regiment about the year 1870. Here he met and married Miss Stanton of Montreal. This picture was a family heirloom and the tradition is that it was painted by Lely.

LAW BREAKERS USE NEW TEAR WEAPON

Ottawa, Jan. 23 (Special to the Recorder)—The relation of science and crime is again coming to the foreground and through the realm of science the violation of the prohibition laws and other in the United States, is being made possible in a manner which serves the purpose and does not have the lasting effect.

A so called "tear-gun" which discharges gas which temporarily blinds the victim is being used. These "tear guns" are of various types of construction, some resembling an ordinary type of pistol or revolver, while others are constructed in such form as to not resemble a typical gun. One type discharges a liquid by pressure, while the other uses a cartridge which is constructed similarly to those ordinarily used in pistols and revolvers, and contains a percussion cap and a small amount of powder which expels a chemical from the gun after which it vaporizes.

The question naturally arises as to whether the carrying of a weapon of this sort comes under the law of a country which penalizes the possession, sale, and use of pistols, revolvers and other firearms capable of being concealed on the person. It would seem doubtful if a pistol which discharges a liquid by pressure rather than using an explosive would come under the provisions of the chapter.

All Set for Quebec Winter Sports

The Winter season of sport at Quebec City with headquarters at the Chateau Frontenac is now well on its way to make 1930 the best year so far experienced at the Ancient Capital. The International Dog Sled Derby, and the grand snowshoe parade and sham attack on the citadel will be the high lights of the season, but right now there is an influx of winter sport lovers at Quebec. Lay-out shows Aileen Riggins, former Olympic diving champion, leaving for a much in dog sled from Chateau Frontenac where she is a guest. Inset is a group of skiers and Miss Riggins is proving that diving is not her only strong card but that fancy skating is also one of her accomplishments.

TOO CLOSE TO LETHBRIDGE

Before we start to write let us hasten to say that we hope we are all wrong in this article. That sounds funny, but we hope it is true.

Times unnumbered we have heard the words "Too close to Lethbridge," used as excuses for not venturing in certain lines of business, for people in business not carrying certain lines of stock, and what not. To us it sounds like suicide.

True, we are close to Lethbridge, but this need make no difference to the growth and prosperity of Raymond only as we allow it.

Instead of letting this fact be as a millstone around our necks it should be the advantage that makes us the best town in Southern Alberta.

When some person asks for an article of merchandise and it isn't on the shelf, tell him you'll get it for him, and capitalize on our nearness to a city where it may be obtained, and have the $ stay home. When you tell the questioner that you don't keep that line, you may as well tell him to trade in Lethbridge, and soon he will cease to ask you for anything and will more and more trade in Lethbridge.

People appreciate personality, service and quality. We have heard of small towns that drew business from large cities because there was personality and service in the personnel of the retail store and because quality was always to be relied on. We have in mind one business in Southern Alberta that draws customers even from Lethbridge because of these facts, and there may be others.

Lets rouse ourselves during 1930 and see if by our service, quality and general manness in business, we can't corral more of the dollars that people are taking and sending away.

Do we appreciate Lethbridge, Certainly. It is a very important factor in our development as a district, and we are sure that Lethbridge would rather see us progress and advance by building up the business of our own community than any other one thing for then she could draw more from us in a wholesale way and continue to improve her service to her own people.

Don't let the staff of life become an instrument of death in our hands because we don't know how to use and appreciate our advantages.

TABER INTERMEDIATES

vs. AGGIES

The Taber 'Mediate Basketball squad was entertained on the High School floor by the Aggies Wednesday evening. A good preliminary was staged by the two High School teams. A fairly large and enthusiastic crowd attended, and a dance followed the games.

The feature game opened up with considerable caution on both sides. Taber's quint were rather slow in getting away and showed that they lacked team work. The first basket was tipped in by Bill Bennett on a nice combination play which seemed to completely upset the opponents.

The game was clean, although a couple of the Taber boys seemed to be unable to refrain from rear guard play.

The Aggies floor work and combination were outstandingly superior to Taber's. Bennett did especially pretty work at centre in the first half against Burbank but was not so effective jumping against Tyler in the last half. A lot of good combination plays and brilliant passes were lost by fumbling the ball, a fault which seemed to be noticeable in all the local players.

Harold Harris starred for Taber while Peterson played a very effective defense game.

Following is the lineup:—

TABER
H. Harris r.f.	13
D. Easthope r.f.	0
I. Harris l.f.	8
Burbank c.	9
Tyler c.	6
H. Peterson r.g.	2

Hawkins l.f.	9

This brings total payments to provincial pools by the Central Selling Agency to 61½¢ per bushel on oats; 69½¢ per bushel on barley; $2.20½¢ per bushel on flax; and 98½¢ per bushel on rye.

"MADAME X" HERALDED AS BOOST TO TALKING FILMS

M-G-M's Picture Marks Big Development in Technique

The prediction made with the release of "The Broadway Melody" that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would show the industry some startling developments in talking pictures has once again been confirmed.

While Hollywood is still discussing "The Broadway Melody," Willard Mack's "The Voice of the City" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan," all of them amazing revelations in the talking field, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer now comes forward with still another marvel of the talking screen, it's "Madame X."

"Madame X" which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre next week was the sensation of the hour at its Hollywood preview, as it was at its first showing in New York.

What M-G-M is doing in its sound studios is engrossing the attention of all producers of the West Coast. More than any other company now, M-G-M is showing how limitless is the future of the talking screen, as demonstrated by such productions as "Mary Dugan" and "Madame X." In the opinion of non-partial observers these photoplays carry far more punch than the original stage plays and show how motion picture technique may be blended with that of the theatre to supply a powerful new entertainment medium.

"Madame X" marks Lionel Barrymore's debut as a feature picture director, and critics present at the preview and at its premiere declare it will establish him as one of the top-notch figures in talking films. Barrymore had built up a reputation as an adroit character actor, but it was only after he had turned out the all-talking short subject "Confession," that M-G-M executives gave him a chance to fulfil directorial ambitions.

Ruth Chatterton's performance in "Madame X," in which she plays the title role, is said to represent the greatest acting triumph of her memorable career. Raymond Hackett and Lewis Stone, both of whom were featured in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," have also contributed stellar character portrayals in the new picture.

Hollywood is awaiting with intense interest further talking revelations from M-G-M, but meanwhile "Madame X" will be a new mark for the studios to reach for.

Notes from the A.C.

Mr. Longman is in Calgary for the week. He is one of the judges at the Provincial Seed Fair.

Mrs. Haworth arrived from Medicine Hat Saturday afternoon. She is remaining with Dr. Haworth until his lectures are completed.

Mr. Smith of the staff and Mr. McBeath of the Consolidated Mining and Smelters Ltd. are leaving for Calgary Thursday to attend a fertilizer conflag. Incidentally they hope to look around the Seed Fair.

Miss McCubbin, the school stenographer, has been seriously ill with the flu, but she is recovering and expects to be back to work soon.

Miss Doris Hovey has been relieving Miss McCubbin.

Last Saturday evening a sleighing party had been projected but was postponed owing to severe weather. The "gang" substituted a theatre party after which they came up to the school for a short dance and a meal.

Coming social events of interest include a Crokinole tournament Friday, Jan. 24th, an Athletic Association dance, Sat., Feb. 1st, and a Literary Association stunt night Friday, Feb. 7th.

The R. S. A. puck chasers were taken into camp by the town Rangers to the tune of a 5-2 score last Monday night. This ties the School for second place in the town league.

Mr. Acheson of the Farm Mechanics Department announces that he is expecting a new 1930 Allis-Chalmers tractor in a few days. This is a new 10-20 with a four speed transmission. The speed in high gear is 20 miles an hour. This will make a total of six demonstration tractors at the school besides numerous small stationary engines, automobile motors, etc. The report also reaches us that excellent headway is being made in the Acetylene welding course which the second years boys are now taking.

Work in debating will start next Friday at Literary when C. Bennett and A. Burnett will meet W. Bennett and H. Evanson on the subject "Resolved that Tractor farming is more economical than horse farming."

The new 25 horse power electric motor is in operation at the farm. It is already proving its value because of the ease with which it starts as compared to a tractor in cold weather.

The poultry flock is producing in spite of the extreme weather. A flock average of 50 p.c. has been maintained thus far in January.

The Hereford calves which are on feed in an open straw shed have made excellent gains right through the sub-zero period.

George Raamussen took a new Hart-Parr Tractor out to his farm last Saturday. This was out of the local Hart-Parr dealer.

Raymond's Hockey team went to Verner last Saturday afternoon and defeated Warner's stick artists to the tune of 3-2. McBeath's wonderful work in goal aided greatly in the local victory. Eddie Price refereed the game. Warner will likely be here tomorrow for the return game.

Kesler and Shelton Stage Exhibition for Raymond Fans

S. E. LOW REFERENCE

Disappointment is the most fitting term which briefly characterizes the Kesler-Shelton bout and preliminary which took place in the Raymond Opera House here Saturday night.

Delay in starting, in anticipation of a larger crowd brought no favorable results, while those already in attendance felt their enthusiasm waning as they patook of the gloom of disappointment that came over the 150 fans who had already paid admission fees.

The bout, that came as a climax to the preliminaries, exploded when the announcement was made in the centre of the ring that because of the lack of sufficient funds Shelton refused to go through with the main bout.

Kesler, however, showed good judgment when he announced that regard less of the unfortunate circumstances, he was willing to give the fans a show. Shelton afterwards took the stand and announced that his expenses were great and he didn't consider it wise to ask him to fight without some remuneration.

H. E. Fly, promoter, followed with a few remarks, expressing regret for the small attendance, but assured Shelton that he was prepared to take his loss and also assured Shelton that his guarantee would be met.

The fight followed, but was cut down to a six-round bout of two minutes each which ended in a draw.

In the preliminaries Jack Moton, 128 pounds of Warner, got the decision over Roy Rayward, Raymond in a three-round fight.

Lafton Watserty got the decision over Steve Aneson, both of Raymond, in the 115-pound class.

Billy Little of Stirling and Nick Richards of Lethbridge furnished the best preliminary fight of the evening in the 165-pound class.

Little, who won the decision, is a very clever fighter capable of meeting faster men.

The semi-windup between Kid McCoy and A. McKendle of Lethbridge proved to be a tame affair.

WHY SHOULD BIRTHS BE REGISTERED.

There is a law in every province which requires the registration of births, and as a rule, the partial responsibility for such registration rests upon the parent. Whether or not the parents are held responsible by law, they should see that the provincial requirements are met because, for the following reasons, it is in the interest of the new-born child that the birth be registered.

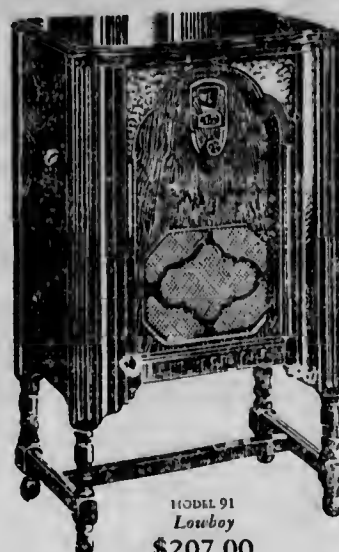

It is through the registration of births and deaths that a check is kept upon health conditions. The cause of deaths, the undue prevalence of disease, the results of health work can only be ascertained from such figures. The public health organization depends upon these statistics, and as its efficiency is a matter of importance to each individual, in that protection from disease and the attainment of health depends largely upon the public service, each citizen should do his part in seeing that such necessary reports as birth registrations are made to the proper authorities.

If the child's birth is not registered he may be hampered in adult life, because birth certificates are now demanded for:

1. Proof of citizenship, in order to have the right to vote; to obtain a passport for travelling outside the country;
2. Proof of age; this is required by insurance companies before claims can be settled; as evidence of a child's having reached school age; as evidence of age where work certificates are required, or to prove that age when work certificate is required has been passed; to prove age for enlistment in the army; to prove age in connection with marriage;
3. Establishment of identity and parentage; to prove right to an inheritance.

Many more reasons might be given, such as age for a motor driver's licence and old age pension, but enough has been mentioned to establish clearly that from the standpoint of both the community and the individual, birth registration should never be neglected. A moral and legal obligation rests upon parents to see that the birth

SEEK NEW TESTS FOR AUTO DRIVERS

Connecticut, Jan. 23; (Special to the Recorder)—Professors of Yale University are uniting to prepare a test for candidates to obtain motor vehicle operator's licenses to remove many of the so-called dangerous drivers from the highways of this state. This attitude has been taken following a conference between the commissioner of motor vehicles, the police commissioner, the State highway commissioner, the technician of the motor vehicle department and the professors of the college.

The operator's test is to be based on past experiences rather than upon theories, it was stated. It will be worked up gradually so that eventually, when a candidate passes a test, he will be considered a fit person to operate a motor vehicle upon the public highways.

As conditions now exist, it was pointed out, a candidate may pass a test but later develop into a dangerous operator. The problem confronting those planning the outlining of the new test is to seek out in advance those individuals who may be regarded as having dangerous tendencies.
